

The Story of 2801 Croydon Road

Jane and Wally Ferrall developed the Lindenwood Allotment. The land was originally an apple orchard owned by The Ink family, who built the Palace Theater.

The Ferralls built this house and lived here from 1952 until the present and are the only original residents still living in Lindenwood.

The property has the distinction of having the only Lindenwood tree in the community. It offers shade for the patio.

Jane and Wally had two sons who had 66 Christmases here. Their children and grandchildren have continued that tradition as well. The last Ferrall gathering here was in early May, when three generations celebrated the many memories with laughs, tears, and love.
